Costume Contest

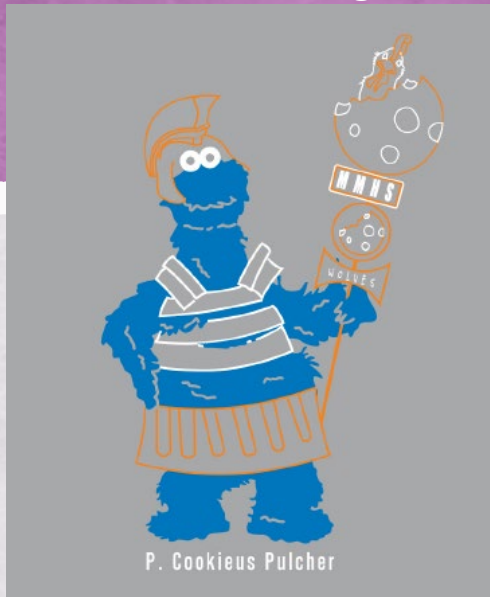

~Grace Ellis & Sabrina Warren~

The judges voted to give this special award to the MMHS sophomores for their innovative Apollo and Artemis costumes which transformed as they retold famous myths of the two gods. Sabrina's Artemis costume transformed into the serpent monster Python, famously slain by Apollo. Meanwhile, the lyre in Grace's Apollo costume split apart to become deer antlers for Actaeon, a hunter cursed by Artemis.

MMHS' humorous take on the Convention Theme "I advise you to ask of yourself not to be a fool." Cookie Monster plays Roman general P. Clodius Pulcher who famously tossed his ship's sacred chickens into the sea before a naval battle he ended up losing saying, "If they won't eat, let them drink!" which we made "If they no eat cookie, let `em drink milk!"
